REMINISCENSES OF OUR PIONEER DAYS

Gleanings From the Records Left By Men Who Laid the Foundation of Our County.

Still another change was made in the control of the Gazette, when in the issue of the paper of July 22d, 1871, H. A. Scofield, who had been the editor for five years, announced its sale to Duncan and Alexander McPherson of Santa Cruz and bade farewell to editorial work. Duncan McPherson was at that time well known to the newspaper fraternity of the coast as the publisher of the Santa Cruz Sentinel, while his brother Alexander was a printer who had been employed upon the Sentinel. The new firm took charge of the business under the style of McPherson Brothers and announced that the paper would continue to support the Republican Party.

On the evening of July 29th Belmont blossomed out with a brand new saloon. A. N. Ranger, who for some time had been conducting the old Belmont Exchange, concluded that he could do better if he was located nearer the depot, and decided to have a building of his own. With this object in view he secured a lot and erected a building especially for his business and on the date mentioned blossomed out with a "grand opening."

On July 31, 1871 the campaign for the selection of County and State officers was formally opened with the meeting of the Republican County Convention in this city, with B. F. Cooper as chairman and William H. Lawrence as secretary. While the convention was a harmonious one, there was considerable of a contest for some of the places on the county ticket. For Assemblyman Curtis Baird was nominated without opposition. For Sheriff there were two candidates, J. C. Edgar receiving the nomination over J. G. Moore by a vote of 16 to 9. George H. Rice was nominated for county clerk without opposition as was also H. N. Nutting for District Attorney. For Treasurer there was a close contest between Dr. S. S. Merrill and W. P. Wallace, the Doctor landing the prize by a vote of 15 to 12. For Assessor the contest was between J. H. Lathrop and E.W Marston, the latter winning out by a vote of 16 to 9. A. S. Easton was beaten for thenomination for Surveyor by S. B. Gilbert with a vote of 16 to 10. For the remaining offices there was no opposition and the nominees were as follws: School Superintendent, H. E. Jewett; Public Administrator, Cap. Edwardw Beals; Coroner, Dr. Kirkpatrick. The nominees for Supervisor were as follows: First township, E.. Robson; Second township, W. J. Fifield; Third township, J. H. Titus; Fourth township Dr. R. O. Tripp Fifth township, Alex. Gordon; Sixth township, John Garretson.

The Democrats held their County Convention a week later and placed in the field the following candidates; Assemblyman, C. E. Kelly; Treasurer, H. Huling; Clerk, John E. Tate; Sheriff, John Crowley;; District Attorney, Gorge W. Fox; Assessor, H. Pullen; Superintendent of Schools, Chancey Faith; Surveyor J. J.Cloud; Public Administrator, John Donald; Coroner, J.W. Turner. The only real contest before this convention was over the nomination for Sheriff, for which there were three aspirants J. Hanley, T. W. Latrhop and John Crowley. Eleven ballots were necessary to arrive at a choice, which was finally given to Crowley.

On the evening of August 28th the members of Metamora Tribe, Improved order of Red Men of this city celebrated the second anniversary of the institution the Tribe with an open meeting, which was attended by a large number of visitors. Speeches were made by J. A. Woodson, the Great Chief of Records, and Dr. Kirkpatrick of the local Tribe. This was followed by the service of corn and venison, followed by a general smoking of the pipe of peace.

Bankers of State to Meet.

The State Bankers' Convention will be in session for three days next month—May 5, 6 and 7—at Riverside. L. P. Behens of the First National Bank of Redwood City will be a delegate and is a member of the Executive Council.

The National Bankers' convention will be held this year at Los Angeles, on October 7, 8, 9 and 10. Mr. Behrens will also be a delegate at this assemblage of financiers. It is quite a victory for the state to have secured the National Bankers' Convention, and it was only accomplished after five years of presistent effort.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

THE CONSERVATION ISSUE IN BRIEF

It is our pleasure to give space in the Times-Gazette editorial columns to the following communication, which we commend to the earnest attention of our readers:

Editor Times-Gazette:—Having been requested to act as collaborator, or co-worker, for the National Conservation Association of Washington, D. C., of which the Hon. Gifford Pinchot is president, the undersigned is prepared to furnish upon application a circular containing the National Conservation Association's declaration of principles, as unanimously adopted by the conference of governors of the States and Territories called by the President of the United States, in the White House May 13, 14 and 15, 1908.

Besides the governors there were invited to the conference the members of the Cabinet, the justices of the Supreme Court, the members of both Houses of Congress, representatives of the great national organizations, the Inland Waterways Commission, and as special guests Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Mr. James J. Hill, Mr. Andrew Carnegie and Mr. John Mitchell. The late ex-President Grover Cleveland was also invited as a special guest, but illness prevented him from attending. At the request of the President each Governor brought with him to the conference three citizens from his state or territory to act as assistants or advisers.

The object of the conference was stated by the President in letter of invitation to the governors in which he said: "It seems to me time for the country to take account of its natural resources, and to inquire how long they are likely to last. We are prosperous now; we should not forget that it will be just as important for our descendants to be prosperous in their time."

The question naturally arises, "Is this an essential issue at present?" and one answer is given by referring to the Pinchot-Ballinger incident, the attitude of the Press of the United States in its defence of the rights of the people, the increasing number that demand to be heard on the floors of Congress.

To carry the principles of Conservation into practical effect the organization will co-operate in every appropriate way with other organizations and with the State and National officials to cover the entire field of the conservation and development of our natural resources, and to bring to this co-operation the vigorous support of an intelligent and disinterested citizenship.

In this connection it may be in order to mention the telegraphic reports that ex-President Roosevelt will address the Conservation Congress upon his return to the United States in the near future.

The Declaration of Principles and blank applications for membership in the National Conservation Association are now available, and all are invited to become members irrespective of politics, to show their confidence in the bold fighters on the firing line.

Respectfully submitted,
W. H. ADAMS,
Box 60, Redwood City, Cal.
Collaborator National Conservation Association.

Ground for Congratulation.

The people of Redwood City have reason for congratulation over the municipal election—both as to the manner of its conduct and the results obtained. While there was keen rivalry between the candidates for the contested offices, the campaign of each was conducted with dignity and manly fairness. Thus we were spared the spectacle of factional strife and acrimonious personalities which marred the contest for officens in some of our neighboring citie. This is as it should be. There is no need of unseemly strife between either men or factions in our little local contests.

Equally gratifying should the result be to every well wisher for the future prosperity of Redwood City Both of the gentlemen elected to the Board of Trustees are excellently fittedt for the work and will enter upon the duties assigned them by their fellowl citizens with a desire for the good of the town and with no enemies to punish or friends to reward. The integrity and business ability of Mr. Sampson no one has hda occasion to question during his long residence in the city. Mr. Hynding may well take to himself the pleasant reflection that his endorsement at the polls was an emphatic approval of his course during the many years he has served the city as one of its Trustees. His long experience in the affairs of the city and intimate knowledge of its business especially fits him for a continuance of the work and renders his councils invaluable at this time of extensive public improvements. His course in the past indicates that he is actuated by no other motive than that of the general public good, and that he will stand firmly and openly for what he believes to be right and best.

James Coleman's record as a peace officer is an indication that the best interests of the city will not suffer while he is an occupant of the Marshal's office. The man who has faithfully guarded the property of the people while they slept can be well trusted to care for their interests during the day.

Quiet City Election.

The municipal election in this city on Monday passed of quietly and with no particular excitement. That the candidates and their friends took active interest was evidenced by the crowds congregated about the polling place during almost the entire day and the number who remained until the election officers had completed the count. Following are the complete figures of the count:

Nature Faker Finds Easy Mark

Several well known county officials and politicians have been made the victims of the operations of a nature faker whose name is unknown to them. The scene of his work was Dingee Park, where a number of officials live.

The smooth and fluent talker made his appearance in Dingee Park with a number of plants which he called "cudgel vines" and which he guaranteed would clamber in picturesque profusion over any bungalow or home nest built for two in the short space of a month, blooming in two.

The talk and the healthy appearance of the vines made a hit, with the result that he gathered in quite a lot of coin before it was discovered that he had raided the surrounding fields to dig up a weed known as "murdock," only to sell the common pest at a goodly price.

We have received 200 ladies' shirt waists, the swellest you have ever seen, at right prices and correct styles. Marcus' Department Store, Redwood.

WILL AID CENSUS MARSHALS

Board of Trade to Assist in Securing Full Count of Population.

The annual meeting of the Redwood City Merchants Board of Trade was held in the law offices of Archer Kincaid, the Secretary of the Board, last Tuesday evening, was well attended, thaugh not as many were present as the importance of the business presented would have warranted. The members present went on record as favoring the closing of all places of business on the day of the anniversary excursion and picnic of the Odd Fellows on April 26th. After a discussion of the proposal, the chairman appointed a committee consisting of Messrs Marcus, Stafford and Hull to interview the merchants and endeavor to secure concerted action to this end.

The Board also decided to take energetic action to assist the census enumerators in securing a full list of the inhabitants of the city. The matter was brought to the attention of the Board by George W. Lovie, who suggested the importance of securing a full enumeration in order that the city might be given the standing to which it was entitled. It was suggested that the time for the work was short and that at best the task was a difficult one and that in public interest every possible assistance should be rendered the enumerators After a full discussion a committee consisting of Messrs Kincaid, Stafford and Tuchsen was appointed to assist in the work and if necessary employ extra aid for the enumerators.

The election of officers resulted in the unanimous choice of D. R. Stafford for president, H. C. Tuchsen for vice president, and A. Kincaid for secretary-treasurer. An effort was made to induce E. P. Heise, who for the past year owing to the illness of President Winter, has filled the duties of president to accept that office, but Mr. Heise persistently declined.

By a unanimous vote the Board endorsed San Francisco as the place for the holding of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. At the suggestion of the committee it was decided to postpone the annual banquet of the Board until some time in the early part of May. This action was taken in view of the delay in the completion of the Bernasque Cafe, where it is designed to hold the banquet.

STATE CAMPAIGN IS UNIQUE

Curry is Making Strongest Showing in Republican Ranks

California is in the midst of what is perhaps the most remarkable political campaign in the history of the state. Within the Republican ranks the race for the gubernatorial nomination has resolved itself into a contest of Charles F. Curry, present Secretary of State, against the field. Curry is making an appeal which has no duplicate in all the western states. Thousands of men, active in every sphere of life, have rallied to his standard and the results of their organized energies are a surprise even to the most sanguine of those who wish to see him in the chair of the chief executive of California.

Many causes haves contributed to this exceptional condition. The first and leading reason is the operation of the direct primary law. Curry was one of the most earnest and effective supporters of this measure. He saw in it the palpable justice and manifets advantage to worthy aspirants for public honor in a direct appeal to the electorate at large. He saw the elimination of convention, favoritism and the evils of bossism. A direct primary, giving to every voter an initial right of preference, inevitably meant success to candidates whose records gave warrant to their ambition, and Curry exercised his powerful influence at Sacramento to insure the adoption of the primary law.

The result has justified the expectation of his friends. Curry has now behind him a state wide force of insistant public opinion based upon personal and professional friendships and an unqualified endorsement of his public career. Without the direct primany law this force of individual support could neither be expressed nor organized. It would be destroyed in the manipulations of packed convention. And it is extremely doubtful that anybody except Curry could even now call it into play. His long tenure of public office and his conduct of the great affairs of state have made him probably the most available citizen in California to reap the rewards of a direct appeal to the people.

The Curry organization throughout California is now a political fact which the Johnson and Anderson managers are free to confess is one of the most remarkable developments in the history of western politics. The personal following of Curry, which both the Johnson and Anderson forces predicted would be blighted into political nothingness at the first political frost, has blossomed into a mammoth political tree. In every county of the state the Curry forces are organized active and intimate, sympathetic touch with a powerful, well conducted central organization in San Francisco. Each county branch is working in harmony with a general policy and the assertion is made with conifdence by the political managers of the Curry campaign, that the Secrettary of State will receive more votes at the August primary than all his competitors combined. When the fact is borne in mind that the Curry central organization now has a roll of qualified Republican voters approaching the startling aggregate of 100,000, the promise of the Curry managers appears to be based upon extremely substantial grounds.

REDWOOD CITY HAS ELEGANT HOSTELRY

New Bernasque Cafe is Modern Resort With Complete and Elegant Equipments.

With the opening of the Bernasque Cafe this evening Redwood City will have a thoroughly modern and complete public house, an institution which will be appreciated both by the traveling public and local residents who appreciate excellent accommodations and the best in the culinary art. The location is an ideal one, fronting El Camino Real, the main thoroughfare of the County, and located just at a sufficient distance from the business center of the city to secure that measure of privacy which is desirable in a house of this character. Modeled after the old Mission style, the exterior is a model of convenience and is a credit to both Victor Bernasque its owner, and to LeBaron R. Olive its architect.

Entering from the broad portico the visitor finds himself in the spacious main hall, from which broad and easy stairs lead to the second floor. On the right of the main hall is located the Cafe, a large room elegantly fitted and well lighted. Across the rear of this room and facing the front is a massive bar finished in dark woods of a style to correspond with the massive appearance of the building, while one side is occupied with the liquor case built into the wall. To the rear of the bar is the store room where the stock of liquors is kept in abundance that makes a complete service possible at all times and under all circumstances, while at the end of the bar and convenient to the attendants is a refrigerator and cooler of modern device and goodly proportions.

On the left of the main entrance is located the large reception room and ladies parlor. This is elegantly furnished and made especially attractive by a large brick fire place, suggestive of a comfort scarcely required in this salubrious clime. The chairs and table with which this room is furnished are also inclined to the Mission pattern and harmonize well with the impressions gained from the exterior.

The kitchen and dining rooms, all of which are on the first floor, are reached by passing down the main hall way toward the rear of the building. The main dining room, reached from a passageway leading to the left, is of splendid size, capable of comfortably seating at least sixty persons, and is so arranged that in a moment it may be divided into two rooms by means of sliding doors, and so situated as to be conveniently reached from the kitchen and provided with ample china and glassware closets. At the right of the main hall and on the opposite side of the kitchen are located two private dining rooms, arranged for private dinner parties and each equally complete with the main dining room and provided with the same conveniences.

Between the rooms and accessible either from the interior or from the rear of the building is the kitchen, a large room well lighted and excellently ventilated. This room is supplied with every modern convenience known to the culinary art, and is a model of completeness. Here the Chef will find at hand every appliance needed to the proper and sanitary preparation of the choicest viands.

The upper floor is given over to the guest rooms, and here like the lower floor, no modern convenience for the entertainment of guests has been omitted. All of the rooms are of large size and are reached from spacious hallways. On this floor are five two-room suites and eight single rooms, all elegantly and completely furnished and each provided with closets and other modern conveniences, all well lighted and ventilated. Passing from the main hallway on the second floor, the guest steps onto a wide balcony running the entire length of two sides of the building and where at any time of the day one may bask either in the sunshine or shade at will. Large windows provide ample light and ventilation during the day, while a emyriad of electric bulbs provide a complete illumination at nigh. With a complete corps of well trained and accommodating assistants, mine host Bernasque is now amply fitted to provide for the comfort and convenience of his guests, while with a reputation already secured as a prince among Chefs leaves no question as to the attractions of the dining room.

From Pomponia.

Mr. Al Lee, the famous fisherman of San Gregorio, is engaged now days chopping wood on the Anderson ranch.

Andy Roy is making 4½ to 5 large cheeses daily from 35 cows, and as a matter of fact the pasture has much to do with it, as it is excellent—muchbetter than it has been for many seasons.

Two puglistic farmers came together one day last week on the Pomponia and if it had not been for the timely assistance of friends who separate them it might have wound up equally as interesting as a prosional prize fight. We will have to call on the four-bit girl to set tle the trouble.—"Money talks."

Assessor's Instructions

To Owners of Real Estate and Personal Property

The law requires each and every person who owns any class of property to annually, during the months of March, April or May, file a statement with the Assessor or his deputy in the county where the property is located. You should give a statement of all property owned by you on the first Monday in March at 12 o'clock m.

If you hold mortgages against others send in a mortgage statement showing amount due on each mortgage on the first Monday in March at 12 o'clock m.

No change can be made by the Assessor after he turns his books over to the Board of Supervisors on the first Monday in July The Board then sets as a Board of Equalization during the month of July.

Remember, if you fail to give in your assessment you fail to comply with the law and may cause yourself, the Assessor and Tax Collector much trouble, and very likely cause yourself expense.

It is much more satisfactory to the Assessor, as well as to yourself, to have your assessment correct when you go to pay your taxes.
